Many Questions Raised by Slight Easing of Sewer Moratorium

The lid that the state clamped down on sewer connections in 1973, has been lifted just a fittle-enough to allow Borough and Township together, to add 64,000 gallons a day to the sewer system

The question now is, "Who gets the 64,000?"

The decision will be made this Wednesday night at a special meeting of the Sewer Operating Committee scheduled for 8 p m in Borough Hall. The SOC will act on the basis of recommendations from the government bodies, plus the advice of its own technical staff.

Presumably the Borough, which had asked for modification of the ban, will be allotted at least 27,000 gallons per day: 17,000 for Princeton University's new biochemical labs., and 10,000 for the proposed Princeton Community Housing, Inc. apartments west of the Playhouse

Also, it has been recommended by George Olexa, sanitary engineer and secretary for the SOC that the Borough could allow connections for new construction that will not be ready until November 1 when the new, 10-million-gallon-per-day plant on River Road is completed

Originally, Township Committee told the state a few months ago, flatly and unanimously, that it didn't want the ban lifted But Mr Olexa is recommending that malfunctioning septic systems in the Township now be allowed – or ordered – to tie into the sewer and Committee itself, in a memo this week to Borough Council, recommends some cautious priorities.

The Township is referring to what its officials call a "sewerable area", roughly on the east side of town, where flow goes directly to the plant. An interceptor – that's a pipe to the main plant – on Alexander by Lake Carnegie, probably won't be finished until February, 1979, and the Township is afraid that if connections are allowed on that side of town before completion of the interceptor, heavy storms could dump sewage into Carnegie Lake.

"In the part tied to the basic sewer line along Carnegie Lake, it would be inconsistent for the Township to act differently from the Borough," observed William Starr, a Township representative on the SOC at last Wednesday's Committee meeting

The Township's memo to the Borough suggests that (1) lots bought before the moratorium have priority, (2) only one connection per person, per year be allowed (to forestall developers) and, (3) property-owners with holding tanks be given a time-limit in which to act-perhaps six months—so their priority could be handed to somebody else if they didn't want it

There are two of these holdingtank properties in the sewerable

The 47-acre estate known as "Constitution Hill" is "impractical to live in and impossible to maintain" and architect A. Perry Morgan who lives there and ought to know, would like to create 70 housing units on the property.

Constitution Hill, now held in trust by a bank in New York, has been in the Morgan family for many years. New Jersey's first state constitution is said to have been drafted in 1776 in a house, owned by a relative of Richard Stockton, which once stood on the old farm.

The estate (and its main house) lies mostly in the Township with a small portion in the Borough. Mr. Morgan told the Planning Board Monday night that he would like to remodel the main house into six condominiums and the garage-stable into two more.

He would also build ten small, single-family houses perhaps with no more than 2,000 square feet and one and one-half or two bedrooms. There would also be 26 more houses with flats - "semi-detached," they are called in the Township zoning ordinance --providing 52 units.

The land would be developed as a modified cluster without "lots" as such. Each family would own its own house, but the land would belong to an Association and would be held in common. The development as a whole would house about 195 people, Mr. Morgan said.

We would design the units to maintain privacy, and yet give you the outdoors," he said, "you could grow herbs by your front door or have a patio in the rear, but you wouldn't have a lawn to mow because the Association would do all the maintenance--and there wouldn't be many lawns, anyway. We'd keep 60% of the acreage in woods and open fields".

Currently, a tenant cultivates the fields, either with corn or soybeans.

No price determinations have been made yet, Mr. Morgan said, but if he doesn't cluster, he would build 29 houses on one and one-half acre plots, and they would have to be large, expensive houses.

He is working with Arthur Collins, a classmate in the Princeton University School of Architecture, who now has the Collins Development Corporation of Greenwich, Connecticut. Mr. Collins showed the Planning Board stides of an estate he developed in Greenwich, in which he preserved 60 percent of the site as open space.

Three Years of Planning. 'I am very happy about working with Mr. Collins,' Mr. Morgan said later, "we work well together. I've been thinking about Constitution Hill for about three years, now. I love the place and I want the development to be right.''

At first, the Planning Board was uneasy about Mr. Morgan's presentation because they were concerned that his project might increase the density beyond what is permissible under present ordinances. He assured the board that it does not.

He must go to the Township Zoning Board for variances to convert the house into apartments, and must work out some things about his cluster plan, which is slightly different from present cluster requirements.

He said after the meeting that he doesn't know whether he will go first to the Zoning Board or back to the Planning Board, but in any case, will not proceed until September or Oc-

Many of the appointees asked if they might serve on the committee, including the Township representative, Donald Wilson. His Borough counterpart, Mr. Cornforth, was asked to serve by mayor Cawley.

At Tuesday night's planning meeting, the school board set up some policies on policymaking. Superintendent Paul Houston told the board he believed in the classic division of responsibility which assigns policy-making to the board and execution of policy to the administration.

He said he approved of what he called the orderly way in which the board has been systematically reviewing policies, and told the board he'd like to see "a lot of interaction" between board and administration before policies are adopted. Principals and other administrators are chiefly concerned about two things, he said: student discipline and matters, like class size, that affect budget-making. A committee of principals, viceprincipals and the director of Student Services will have a specific list at the end of August, he reported.

The five board members present agreed that discipline probably had the highest priority, with interaction and finances close behind.

flow is reduced even more.

The Township fears that, if the ban were totally lifted now, hoardes of home-builders would strom the barricades before proper housing and land-use studies have been completed.

The DEP's relaxation order can be appealed within a 15day limit, but Mr. Starr warned Committee that It would be hard to make a case for appeal and in any case, nobody on Committee believed the Borough would go Reduction of inflow may not come for quite some time because the money has dried up. Mr. Olexa says the SOC needs $40,000 to make engineering plans and the DEP says it hasn't any money. After that, it will take about $1.5 million - from the same drouth-stricken source -to fix up the pipes.

Meanwhile, both Lake Carnegie and Stony Brook are what Mayor Hall calls "fragile."

Heavy storms overwhelm the system, and cause sewage to be dumped into both lake and stream, along with a lot of phosphates. Then a spell of warm, dry weather comes along and the consequences are not good.

The SOC, upon whom these decisions rest, is a body Borough, comprising Township and University. Nelson van den Blink of Borough Council, sits in the chair. James Combs is the other Borough representative. Township representatives are Committee member David Blair and Mr. Starr. The University's delegates are Clifford Bischoff and Gene McPartland. Joseph Minkin is assistant secretary. Township and University representatives are all engineers.

The impact turned the Jeep 90 degrees and it came to rest on the rear of the station wagon balanced on its outside wheels. Both vehicles are owned by Phillips V. Blakeman of Monmouth Junction, a witness to the mishap.

Another witness, Susan Marcus of Magee Apartments, who had turned off Nassau onto Chambers told police that after the first impact, the Forer car stopped, then

COOK RESIGNS

Board Seeks Successor. A school board committee under the chairmanship of Robin Wallack, is now being formed to look for a successor to Thomas P. Cook, who has announced his resignation as school board attorney. Board member Joan Doig is also a member of the committee, which is expected to have recommendations by September 1. Mr. Cook, who was appointed attorney for the former Borough Board of Education in 1965 and then went on to serve the newlyformed regional school board in the same capacity, has told the school board he will remain until the board finds a replacement. School board lawyers serve on a yearly basis, appointed in either February or March when a

Mr. Cook cited the pressure phasized that he was by no means retiring from law practice. He has also referred to recent rules set up by the board to make sure that only authorized people call Mr. Cook, who charges $70 an hour for his services.

'Maybe there is someone who can do it for them cheaper," Cook said this week, "but I cannot afford to do it for less."

Long-Standing Love Affair With Tennis Topics of the Town Led to $15,000 Contribution to Light Courts Continued from Page 4

"For me, it's always been tennis," smiles Barbara Smoyer, "I began when I was a kid, and we were 'Helen Mills,' you know, and I played all day long every day."

That was in Akron, where she and Stan Smoyer both grew up. Later Barbara was captain of the Swarthmore tennis team, and Stan was an avid tennis player when he was a young lawyer in Akron.

It was this long-time, deep-seated shared love of the game that led the Smoyers to contribute $15,000 to Princeton for construction of lights on the six all-weather courts.

The $33,500 enabling ordinance was introduced Wednesday bv Township Committee, with public hearing scheduled for August 10. Of the amount, $3,000 is for consultants who will design and supervise installation. The Borough will pay its rateables share of 36 percent. Estimated completion is October

"We wanted to do something for the town -but not roads or sewers!" Stan explains, "we'd heard that the Recreation Commission was interested in tennis lights but hadn't had much response from the governing bodies. We figured that if we gave half, or up to $15,000, this would spur the two Princetons to put in the balance.'

"Also," he continues, we hope the idea might spread. It's nice to give the town something that benefits a large number of people -- gives an extra dimension to the community."

"You know those roses Glen Miller gave, the ones along the Community Park-State Road fence?" Barbara reminds, "what a nice thing to do! It's an extra touch the town itself probably couldn't afford, and it's just lovely instead of that plain old chain link fence!

Meeting People. Barbara's enthusiasm for tennis carries over to hecome enthusiasm for what the lights can mean.

"Neighbors who live near by, can now play in the evening," she points out, "people who work can play after work. Tennis is so marvellous because of what it gives people -- you meet so many nice people, playing tennis! If you're new in the community, not knowing anyone, it's a marvellous way to make friends. When we first came here in 1945 not knowing anyone, we made friends that way.

Since coming to Princeton, the Smoyers have won local mixed doubles tournaments "two or three times": Stan has won the men's doubles and Barbara the women's doubles. In the 1950s, she achieved national ranking in Senior Women's Singles, ranking

Championship and love of the game runs in the family

"The kids were all local champions at one time or another," Stan recalls, ''Dave was Number One on the Dartmouth team. Yes, they learned from us - no formal lessons."

"What you do with children," says Barbara with a knowing smile, "is to wait until they ask you if they can play," and Stan adds, "then get them mixed in with their own generation, not just with parents."

By the time Sgt. Robert Heacock was able to respond, Professor Labatut had extinguished the blaze with a garden hose. Police said that the force of the explosion knocked down Mrs. Labatut, who was in a room above the garage. She was not injured.

Friday afternoon, smoke and flames erupted under the hood of the car of Fernando Pocino of Trenton who pulled off Route 206, a half-mile south of Valley Road.

Ptl. John Clausen put out the fire with an extinguisher from his patrol car. Police said the fire, confined to the engine area, was apparently caused by a short circuit in the electrical system.

Since 1925, "No, No Nanette" has been charming American audiences either on stage or in a number of film revivals. The beautiful music of Vincent Youmans combined with the lyrics of Irvin Ceasar and Otto Harbach provided American with two all-time classic hits "I Want To Be Happy" and "Tea for Two." In 1971 the Broadway revival which brought Ruby Keeler back to the spotlight played a triumphant two-year New York engagement followed by a two-year national tour in Westminster Concert. William and Louise Cheadle will again demonstrate their dexterity and musicianship as a duo-piano and one-pianofour-hands team in a program in the Playhouse at Westminster Choir College on July 28 at 8. The public is invited; admission is free.

Well known in the Princeton community for their innovative programming, the Cheadles will feature Rachmaninoff's "Suite" op. 5, which the composer dedicated to Tschaikowski. The fourmovement suite is based on poems by Lermontov, Byron, Tyutchev and Khomyakov which are entitled "Barcarolle, A Night for Love, Tears, and Russian Easter.'

"Although this is an early work of Rachmaninoff, and not his most mature work," said Louise Cheadle, "I love it for its description of the poetry. It is programmatic with music definite Tschaikowski influence. The piece seems to stay young, fresh, and fragrant. The four movements sing of love, tears and a rousing Russian Easter - complete with church bells."

Other works on the program will include "Suite in Canon Form" Op. 65 (for two pianos) of Arensky, "Andante and Variations" K_501, Mozart, "Sonata for Four Hands" (1946) by Bernhard Heiden, an Indiana University faculty member; and "Scherzo for Two Pianos" Op. 87 of Saint-Saens.

The Cheadles are both graduates of the Juilliard School of Music and are now on the faculty of Westminster Choir College. William is in the Piano Department and Louise is Director of the Westminster Conservatory Division.

NEW BLENDS WITH OLD At Terhune Orchards. For Pam and Gary Mount this is their third season at Terhune Orchards, and their efforts are obvious from the moment you turn onto the long driveway. There are new trees in the orchard, a vegetable garden near the house, lots of hanging baskets and useful charts in the selling building.

This farm is definitely our future, said Pam, "and we have tried to spruce things up." However, they are well aware that for many people the more than 60-year old Terhune's is a tradition, and thus they have kept the business basically the same.

What changes have been instituted have been done to of labor. For instance, the new apple trees are all dwarf stock, which will grow only all the pruning and picking citing." can be done from the ground. This is certainly more efficient than climbing the 24foot ladders that are required for some of the 50 and 60-year old trees

Although the retail business is new to Gary Mount, the farming aspects are not. At this point it would seem efficiency, working out new Summer apples are now that the Mounts had earned a break, but with an orchard this is never possible for winter means essential pruning and fertilizing to maintain a strong crop. Although things might look slower, Pam says, "We have less help in the winter so things sort of stay the same for us. It's a seven-day a week business and nothing could be more than that.

During the season Pam supervises the selling end of things, and along with the apples and peaches are her many thoughtful touches. There is a free recipe each week -- perfect peach pies with four variations when we visited -- all of which have been tested

Most impressive, however, are the charts - one of which guides you as to the quantities needed for applesauce, jam or other canning while the other lists each variety in the orchard and its harvest date for the last three years. So far, 1977 has produced the earliest crop due to the early blooms this year, but Pam cautions that this trend might not continue unless there is more rain

One of the reasons the Mounts bought Terhune's three years ago was their desire to be involved as a family. Crime, Pollution, Congestion Biggest Problems Topics of the Town In State; Public Schools Receive Good Grades

New Jerseyans have long been subjected to a steady diet of needling about their state, afflicting many with selfdoubts. To much of the outside world, New Jersey is viewed as a crowded, polluted corridor, bisected by a turnpike which takes its toll. Or it is seen as a large suburb in the shadows of New York and Philadelphia.

But to 7.5 million residents, New Jersey is home, Their views of life in the Garden State and in their communities are the major concern of a special Eagleton survey entitled "New Jersey Images". The recent survey asked a random sample of 1,005 New Jerseyans about the quality of life in New Jersey, about their likes and dislikes, ebout government and politics, education. culture, tertainment, leisure, the media, and about major problems confronting the state and their communities. These are the third and fourth in an eight-part Sometime after World War II, New Jersey's widespread rural image of tomatoes, asparagus, and poultry came to be supplanted by a more urban vision of crime, polution, and congestion.

New Jerseyans recognize these problems, but still remain positive about their state as a place to live, according to the third report on "New Jersey Images" by the Eagleton Institute of Politics at Rutgers Univer-

Eagleton analyst Mark Schulman. Although majority or near majority of New Jerseyans rate crime, pollution. and traffic congestion as "very serious" state problems, they do not view these as "very serious" problems in their own communities.

When asked to assess crime in New Jersey, 52 percent say it is "very serious," 31 percent say "somewhat serious," and only 14 percent say "not too serious." However, when asked to assess crime in their own area, the pattern is reversed. The majority of respondents - 51 percent - say it is "not too serious," 29 percent say "somewhat serious" and only 18 percent say "very serious.

New Jerseyans rate air pollution similarly. While a majority - 52 percent -- say air pollution is "very serious" in the state, only 27 percent say it is "very serious" in their own

Traffic congestion likewise is considered worse in the state than it is in people's communities. Forty-three percent consider traffic congestion a "very serious" state problem, while only 27 percent rate it as "very seious" in their local areas.

Rural Vs. Urban. As might be expected, the disparity between ratings of the state, on the one hand, and communities, on the other, is greatest among suburbanites and rural residents. For level. While only 32 percent example, half of suburbanites are positive about cultural say that crime is "very activities in the state, a scant serious" in the state, yet only 20 percent are positive about 14 percent say that crime is community cultural activities. communities. Urban dwellers are also teaching and traffic congestion as both state and local issues. For example, 51 percent of urbanites rate air pollution as "very serious," while 42 percent also rate local air pollution "very serious."

"For residents of New Jersey's troubled cities, the state's negative image and the reality of their lives converge," said Schulman.

The state does not always fare worse in comparison with local communities. Over half of Garden Staters are positive about recreation and entertainment in the state, while only 32 percent rate their communities positively. The state also gets higher marks than local areas for the quality of shopping, by an 81 percent to 67 percent margin.

The series is based on a statewide survey conducted between May 6 and May 13, when a scientifically selected random sample of 1005 adults, 18 years and older were interviewed by telephone.

PART tV NEW JERSEY SCHOOLS

New Jersey is one of this country's most suburban states and good public schools are reputed to be among the suburb's major attractions. How then do New Jerseyans rate their public schools? The answer is fairly good, but far from perfect.

New Jerseyans have mixed feelings about the public schools throughout the state. But, when it comes to assessing the schools they know best -- those in their own communities - they are much more positive. And those most familiar with public education in New Jersey - parents of school children - are even more pleased about the schools their children attend.

"I Read this absolutely BORING book!"

Not many clients of the Princeton Public Library Children's Department make complaints like THAT. But in case you're one who has, you can vote for "most boring" book on Thursday, August 10, which will be Election Day in the library.

Of course, we're saying all this in a very negative way. Actually, it's a vote to find out what everybody's very favorite book is, and you certainly want people to know what you think is best, don't you?

You have to register first-just like an adult election-and you may do that until Tuesday, August 9, at the library.

On Election Day, you go to the Children's Room any time between 10 a.m. and 5:30 p.m., and use the real voting machine lent by the Mercer County Board of Elections. Bring your little brother and sister-it doesn't matter how young you are.

Volunteers who will help small children, are needed by the library. Full hour or half-hour assignments are available, and you can sign up if you're over 12 years old.

These findings were reported in the June 13 issue of Eagleton's N.J. Report.

Bike Path Objections

To the Editor of Town Topica: I applaud the letter of July 20 by Mrs. Nancy C. Knox concerning the bicycle path on the Great Road. She has raised extremely valid issues with respect to the problem.

Early in May, I wrote to the Mayor of Princeton Township voicing my concern about the protruding curbing which was then in the process of construction, Mrs. Hall's reply to my letter indicated to me that either she did not read my letter or she did not understand it. In any event, her reply was not in the least responsive to my objections.

A minimum corrective would be to start the nopassing zone at a point east of the Mountain Avenue intersection. At the present time, passing is permitted in a very hazardous zone between Mountain Avenue and Winfield Drive.

More Bike Path Thoughts. To the Editor of Town Topics.

I should like to back up Mrs. Knox's letter of July 20th, concerning the hazards of the concrete barriers on the newly constructed Great Road bike path.

The hill is steep for pedallers and the question of snow removal on the road itself and the path, is a good one to consider. The Great Road carries a great deal of traffic, especially when one realizes the hours of the shuts of staff from The Neuro-Psychiatric Institute at Skillman

Chris Reeve Finding He Has to Be Superman to Play Superman

One hot morning last week the residents of Montague Terrace in Brooklyn Heights received notice that their street would be the location all that night for the filming of a sequence in the forthcoming movie "Superman." Summoning relatives and friends they clustered in windows and on front stoops to watch the proceedings.

Montague Terrace is a tree lined, one block street that deadends at the mouth of the East River and has a picture postcard view of the tall buildings of lower Manhattan. The filming was scheduled to begin at dark and to continue through the night, but long before the lights came on in those buildings, the streets around Montague Terrace were clogged with trucks bearing theatrical equipment and with the deluxe camping trailers used as on location headquarters by the director and the principal actor in the scheduled sequence, Princeton's Christopher Reeve.

A huge construction crane was positioned at the foot of the street with two thin wires a foot apart hanging from it. A looking voung man leotard and a bare chest under being hoisted up and swung in arcs to test the equipment. Behind, two men sitting on a moveable boom on a truck adjusted their cameras.

Ropes, lights and paraphernalia were scattered all about the street. Young men with walkie-talkies, the security force, challenged visitors and tried to maintain order. A police barricade was set up at the end of the street to restrain the curious public.

To the side in the traditional director's chair inscribed with his name sat director Richard Donner who directed "The Wearing the traditional dark rimmed sunglasses, dressed all in denim and tossing a mane of dark hair, Donner has a barrell-chested aura of Hemingway macho about to the visitor from Princeton on the trickiness of the scene being shot. There are three elements one should stay away from in making a film, he says, children, animals and water, he has just added a fourth, flying. Mr. Spengler, for all his youthful, long-haired slightness is a veteran Stor all his youthur, long-bhaired slightness, is a veteran of films such as "The Three: Musketeers." He likes doing a classic film with a title that is self-explanatory, he says.

The bodyguard Tony brings him a pad to sign autographs for people in the crowd outside the door, and he signs a stack of pictures for publicity purposes, including one for the two kids of the cop on the beat.

Never A Free Moment. Gordon Arnell, and June Bloom, British publicists for this unit, enter to discuss appointments in his free time for interviews, photographing sessions, and the drawing of two youngster's names who will appear as extras in the film. Roy, one of his two English dressers, comes to tell him that a sequence in which Clark Kent crosses a street, against the light and is hit by a taxi, with the impact crum-pling the front fender, won't be shot that night.

Twin taxis, one whole, one with crumpled front fender, have been waiting on a car trailer the whole evening. The sequence will be filmed in Calgary, instead. Mr. Reeve, who is scheduled to leave for a week's filming in London at the end of the week, will have a brief vacation and will be flown to Canada late in August for the taxi crumpling scene.

Midnight lunch, or dinner, a union requirement, is ready, and Mr. Reeve asks for a dresser to help him out of the flying harness. The last view the visitor from Princeton has of him before catching the last express train home is dressed in white terry cloth robe, accompanied by the faithful bodyguards, he crosses Montague Street. Making a movie is as grueling as it is glamorous for the star.

day any baseball player ever had at bat in one game in history? ... No big league player ever matched the hitting performance of Joe Adcock of the Braves, when on July 31, 1954 he hit 4 homers and a double in one game for 18 total bases ... That's the all-time record for most total bases by one player in any major league game.

It's odd how many major league baseball managers were not-sogood players themselves ... For instance, Dodger manager Tom LaSorda had a total of 4 decisions in his career as a big league pitcher -and lost 'em all! ... And the manager of the Cubs, Herman Franks. had a major league lifetime batting average of .199!

Although some people criticize boxing today for having low-ranked fighters meeting world champions, the most amazing match-up happened 17 years ago when heavyweight champ Floyd Patterson fought Pete Rademacher who had NEVER had a pro fight in his life . TENNITHON SET

To Raise Funds. The start of the first Princeton Junior Tennithon will begin Thursday when more than 100 juniors from surrounding communities will engage in 36 hours of tennis to raise money for a junior scholarship fund and the possible purchase of a minibus.

Players are seeking sponsors to pledge ten cents or more for every game they play. Two have already collected more than $400 each in pledges, in vying for the top prize for the junior who collects the most money. There will also be a prize for the player who gets the most sponsors and for the one who plays the most games.

Those interested in sponsoring a player should call the Tennis Office at 924-4343.

Play will be held at the Princeton University Pagoda Courts during the day and at the Princeton Indoor Tennis Center at night. The public is welcome to watch and cheer the juniors on.

EARNINGS DIP SLIGHTLY For UJB in Second Quarter. United Jersey Banks, has reported an income of 36 cents per share before securities transactions for the 1977 second quarter, a slight increase over the 35 cents per share earned in the first quarter of this year but a decrease from the similar period of a year ago.

'We believe the upward trend which began in the first quarter of this year will continue in the months ahead," Edward A. Jesser Jr., chairman said.

Income before securities transactions for the second quarter ended June 30, was $1,928,000 or 36 cents per share, compared with the $2,099,000 or 39 cents per share earned in the 1976 second quarter.

Net income, after net gains of $281,000 from securities transactions, was $2,209,000 or 41 cents per share for the 1977 second quarter against $2,145,000 or 40 cents per share Nowalk also will retain the PETERSON'S TO EXPAND reported in the second quarter position of treasurer. Lawyers Here Not Rushing to Advertise

Weekly specials on divorces and a reduced-lorquick-sale shelf for old wills have not materialized in newspapers as a result of the recent United States Supreme Court ruling that lawyers can now do some advertising.

New Jersey lawyers generally are waiting for the State Supreme Court to speak up. The court issues guidelines for lawyers throughout the state and so far -- on July 12 -- has merely suspended the existing disciplinary rule, DR 2--102, to the extent allowed by the United States Supreme Court ruling.

The consensus around Princeton seems to be that young lawyers who have just passed the bar exams. are the ones most likely to seize on the freedom to advertise as a way of making sure they eat more regularly. Older. established lawyers and law firms are less likely to buy time or space.

GREAT PROPERTIES...

INTO EVERYONE'S LIFE AT SOME TIME THERE NESTLES THE DREAM OF RAINBOW HILL! RAINBOW HILL, as the name implies, high on a ridge nobly viewing the surrounding valley. An eighteenth century New Jersey classic, restored to such perfection, that George Washington would feel at home should he return! Dating back to 1768, and later owned by Henry Reading in 1790, it has been passed on through the generations, often abused, but now really loved by the present owners who have painstakingly toiled to restore authenticity. Successful in their task, they now reluctantly leave for new challenges. But they are offering a warm, comfortable 12-room central hall colonial with wide floor boards, chairrails, wainscotting, and all else one would expect in the Federal house of this area. A few original features are open beams, brick floor, six working fireplaces, original Adam's mantels. Gracious living is enhanced by a fieldstone patio and lovely mature grounds. An attached stone wing is used as guest suite or in-law apartment. Of course, there is acreage (6) and a modern barn with five box stalls and water and electricity for total enjoyment and convenience. Please call for the particulars. This is an exceptional property.

WHEN LAWRENCEVILLE WAS MAIDENHEAD (C. 1750) Stately, gracious, comfortable. One of our area's outstanding landmarks. Stone and frame for durability, resting elegantly midst its gardens and trees. High ceilings, walk-in fireplaces, and colonial abound inside where a large and loving famly can find everything imaginable for today's living. The details are too numerous to mention. But please call Florence Dawes for an appointment to see this exceptional offering. $265,000

EXTRAORDINARY ...in an area of coveted houses, Westcott Road, Princeton Borough, we are proud to offer this exceptional blend of classic colonial with contemporary family living space! Perfect for the active, growing, interested—and interesting—family who like to cook, dine, work, play and be together! All the regular amenities one would expect, of course: five bedrooms, 3½ baths, living room with fireplace, dining room, sun porch, and the award-winning family kitchen wing that you really must see for yourself. Within walking distance of Palmer Square, the University and much more $190,000

Hopewell Hopewell House Square Hopewell, New Jersey 08525 (609) 466-2550

IN THE RENAISSANCE MANNER! One of Princeton's most charming houses...nestled snugly on an imposing lot of terraced lawns, tall trees, circular drive and private patios! A stucco complex of multi-levels and contemporary living. Outstanding kitchen with fireplace and compact work area is found in a central location between children's wing of two bedrooms, bath, laundry and sitting rooms. An elegant dining room with doors to the terrace features also a bar area, just off the brick-floored library which leads to the master suite of private bedroom and spacious bath dressing room. The northern wing provides an English country living room with large fireplace and cathedral ceiling, complete with bookshelves. Of course, there's a study with full bath, too. Restored just a year ago, and technically sound as a dollar. Please call for an appointment to see this listing.

ALEXANDER ROAD with a Princeton address and just down from the Scupper in West Windsor...a comfortable three-bedroom, two-bath ranch with modern kitchen, living room with fireplace, dining el, and study. A two-carport, too! Lovely lot back from the road with lots of privacy. Anxious for an offer. $66,500

PRIME BUILDING LOT! 10 ACRES THAT HAVE PASSED PERK! JUST OUTSIDE OF HOPEWELL, WITH A VIEW AND STREAM. $29,500 OWNER GIVING TERMS.

ONE OF PRINCETON'S most gracious houses...Steadman-designed and moved from its original location to this lovely two acre lot with trees and formal gardens, not to mention more than 2 dozen exquisite holly trees, near Carnegie Lake, just over the bridge. A modern wing was incorporated in the 50's that blends in beautifully with the original! The original two parlours form to make a warm family room with high ceilings and fireplace, the new wing provides a formal living room with elegant marble fireplace. A master bedroom suite with full bath and doors to the patio is nearby. Of course, a formal dining room, and super family kitchen complete the first floor. Bedrooms upstairs are in separate wings with two and a full hath in one part, and three with two baths in another. All new wiring, heating, of course, and a barn-garage completes this almost perfect picture.
